Course Description: This course examines a long tradition of African American humor in theatre (e.g., “blackface” minstrelsy), TV/radio (e.g., Amos ‘N’ Andy), literature/folklore, and, principally, Black or “urban” standup comedy. We will explore how these diverse comedic forms offer insights into shifting notions of racial, gendered, class, etc. “authenticity,” language, and identity in and beyond Black America. Our investigation of interdisciplinary theories of humor in folklore, linguistics, anthropology, and cultural/literary studies will illuminate the themes/tropes, language and discourse styles, and performative genres that characterize African American humor. We will also explore the politics of representation that have colored the experiences of African American humorists and their audiences in poignant ways throughout history. Close readings of standup comedy and comedians and guest comic speakers will augment our analysis. At the end of the term, we will gain new insights into: (i) comics and their audiences as co-producers of Black humor, (ii) Black “urban” comedy clubs/shows as communal forums, and (iii) comics as members of a community of practice with shared assumptions and specific rules of engagement. Towards this end, let’s create a mutually supportive learning environment wherein we can laugh and think!
Grading: There will be a midterm and final exam covering assigned readings and films. Your score on the midterm will constitute 30% of your grade and your score on the final exam will constitute 40%. Each of the exams will include short-answer and essay questions and will be non-cumulative. In addition, 20% of your grade will be determined by a 3-5 page essay (excluding bibliography of 3-5 scholarly sources [i.e., no Wikipedia, websites, magazine articles]) due by 5PM in my mailbox (“Jacobs” in KAP 352) on Friday, March 25th. Late papers will be docked a minimum of three points. This essay should provide a critical review of a “live” and/or pre-recorded standup comedy performance, sketch, or scene. (If “live,” you must definitely gain the requisite permissions and observe judiciously!) You may invoke one or several course themes (e.g., comic-audience dynamics; standup comedy as personal memoir, cultural or political commentary; gendered humor; standup comedy as a window into race, cultural identity, language, etc.) in your paper. Your essay must adhere to the following format: 3-5 pages of text (no shorter/longer), double-spaced, 12 point-font, 1” top, bottom, right, and left margins. (Additional guidelines, as well as sample comedy reviews, will be made available in Blackboard.) The remaining 10% of your grade will be determined by your class participation. As such, you are strongly encouraged to keep up with assigned readings/films so that you are prepared to participate in class discussions. Extra credit opportunities will be offered in the form of a two-point “bonus question” on the midterm and final exam. The grading scale is as follows:

An Official Note on Examinations: Make-up exams will only be given under extraordinary circumstances and will require documentation from a physician. The content and form of any make-up exam will be at my discretion. In any case, you should inform me via email or phone prior to missing an exam. If you feel you must reschedule an exam on account of having (a) two additional exams scheduled at the same time or (b) three exams in a 24-hour period, inform me at least two weeks prior to our scheduled mid-term. The final exam must be taken at the time noted below. Also, no late or emailed essays/comedy reviews will be accepted.

Attendance: A grading percentage will not be given for class attendance. However, consistent and punctual attendance in lecture and discussion section(s) is strongly encouraged to increase your understanding of course materials. Your record of attendance may also be considered in the case of borderline grades. It is ultimately your responsibility to be aware of class lectures and assignments. Should sickness, family emergencies, or other events necessitate your absence from class, I recommend that you consult your peers for copies of their lecture notes.

Academic Accommodations: Students requesting academic accommodations based on a disability should register with Disability Services and Programs (DSP) each semester. A letter of verification for approved accommodations can be obtained from DSP when necessary documentation is filed. Please be sure the letter is delivered to me as early in the semester as possible, preferably by or before fifth week. DSP is open Monday-Friday, 8:30AM-5PM. The office is in Student Union 301 and their phone number is 213-740-0776.

Class Structure & Resources: Class meetings will consist of lecture and discussion, with a clear emphasis on the latter. As such, it is essential that you keep up with the weekly readings and that you hand in assignments on time. Course lectures will be made available in Blackboard, along with the Course Reader and other helpful information (e.g., Sample Comedy Essays).
